

Overview - Transcript

- In order to help you think difference and act differently, you'll get a chance to test your understanding and learn a little more about Equality and Diversity through three scenarios.
- In these scenarios, you'll be presented with situations or events you could experience as a student at Queen's University.
- As you progress through them, you'll be asked to identify opportunities for including people and treating people with respect.
- When you're ready, select the students to start a scenario.
